

2023 Corporate Campaign

Support the library, support local families.

Inspire. Collaboration with educational organizations, businesses and local nonprofits permits differentiation in program styles that target specific demands and needs in the community. These collaborations focus on STEM, job opportunities, skill development, creativity, analysis and research that spark an inspiration in future leaders.

Read. Early literacy programs are offered for free throughout the year at the Ridgway Public Library. Encouraging literacy at an early age promotes a love of life-long learning and skill development needed later in life. By becoming a corporate sponsor, your organization can illustrate how much you care about literacy and education for the youngest citizens in our community.

Learn. Libraries act as the primary center for educational activities of young children during the summer. Reading and literacy programs are linked to easier skill developments in the workforce and greater economic growth. That's why we encourage reading and educational activities in the summer months! The annual summer reading program encourages children, teens and adults to continue expanding their knowledge and exploring new avenues of learning by participating in the many programs offered from May to August.

Visit ridgwaylibrary.org to view the full list of services, databases, and ongoing programs the Ridgway Public Library has to offer. With your support, we can continue to offer programs and workshops for no cost to the community. Contact us at 814-773-7573. We are here for any questions you may have.
